particularly to a system and method for providing a virtual focal plane for a radiographic system. 2.

Description of the Related Art Radiography is an x-ray imaging technique that is used to produce images of an object being imaged. To create an x-ray image, x-rays are produced using an x-ray tube. The x-ray tube is oriented to direct an x-ray beam at a radiographic subject at a desired angle and to create a beam of x-rays that is directed at the radiographic subject. The x-ray beam passes through the radiographic subject and attenuates the beam in proportion to the x-ray energy radiated by the x-ray beam. The attenuated beam strikes an x-ray detector and creates a signal proportional to the intensity of the attenuated x-ray beam. The x-ray detector is disposed opposite the x-ray tube and is oriented to receive x-rays that have passed through the radiographic subject. The x-ray detector includes an array of pixel sensors that are used to read the received x-ray signal and to create an x-ray image based on the received x-ray signal. Each pixel sensor of the x-ray detector has an associated area where the pixel sensor is responsive to the x-rays.

---
